With another graduating class receiving their diplomas Friday night I think this would be a good time to stop and think a minute on what we as individuals and groups have done since the last class graduated to make room in Hamlin for these young people to make their homes here.

A favorite phrase used at banquets is that our young people are our greatest assets and if this is true, and there isn't any doubt but what it is, it would follow that anyone with any stake in Hamlin should make every effort to create more and better job opportunities for these young people and those from Hamlin that are finishing their college work this year.

Too many people say "let the BCD or some other organization do something about that problem." And in a big city this might work but in a small city like Hamlin it is going to take the effort of everyone to keep our town alive and grow-

With everyone's help the BCD can do the job, but it will have to have everyone's time

The BCD has been forced to spend the first five months of this year just trying to raise enough money to stay in business and hasn't had the time or money to do very much to better this community. This puts the organization and Hamlin at a big disadvantage.

Perhaps you can get some ideas from Ted and Norma Treadway. A working couple, they both take part in a large number of outside activities.

They have three colorful extension phones in their five-room home. These phones save them time and effort and give them more privacy. And the Treadways' bedroom phone gives them a comfortable feeling of security at night.
